With the outstanding growth of the ASQ Orange Empire Section in the past few years, many young professionals join ASQ to network with others new to the industry, as well as learn more about the profession. ASQ Orange Empire is proud to launch the NextGen program, a dedicated resource for those new to Quality or industry. In addition to the monthly dinner meetings, training, certifications and other resources already offered, we hope to create a thriving community for our future leaders to make connections, find mentors, and have a tailored experience to their unique demographic.

Come join us at the Edwards Lifesciences campus to hear from a diverse panel of leaders about the role of ASQ in accelerating their careers. The second half of the event is our NextGen networking and social where there will be heavy appetizers and beverages served ($10 deposit, refunded electronically).

Keynote Speaker: Jeff Blatnik - Sr. Director of Quality, Edwards Lifesciences
